AIR LEAGUE TOLD STATE TO BE HUB

500 DELEGATES HEAR GLOWING PREDICTIONS

DEVELOP COMMERCIAL FLYING ON WEST COAST

Reliability Tour and Traveling Show for Airplanes Will Be Conducted
Early Next Year Between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

San Francisco.—A day when airplanes will be as common as automobiles, when the sky will be charted with airways and when California will be to the airplane manufacturing industry what Detroit is to the automobile trade, was predicted at a meeting of the Western Aero league, held under the auspices of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce at the Clift hotel.

Announcement was made that a reliability tour and traveling show for airplanes will be conducted early next year between San Francisco and Los Angeles to convince business interests that "airplanes are not toys."

More than three hundred delegates from California and Nevada attended the meeting, considered the most important ever held in this city connected with commercial aviation. Many of them flew here from distant parts of the state.

Supervisor Jesse C. Coleman acted as chairman and Henry Clay Miller, president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, gave the address of welcome. "I can assure you of the co-operation of the seven thousand members of the chamber of commerce in procuring a suitable airport for San Francisco and in development of commercial flying on the Pacific coast," Miller said.

"Every large city throughout Europe and the United States has some kind of a landing field for commercial airplanes with the exception of San Francisco," Dr. Sterling Bunnell told the gathering. "Proper airports must be established if we are to take our proper place in the coming aerial era. This western country is the most wonderful flying country in the United States and we must take advantage of it while the industry is in its infancy. Crissy field is entirely inadequate as an airport."

Other speakers were Dr. T. C. Young, president of the league; J. T. Edwards, map expert; Colonel F. P. Lahm, Ninth corps area air officer; Howard I. Wood, league secretary; J. C. Riley of Los Angeles, Lieutenant C. P. Kane, commander of Ross and Marsh flying fields, Los Angeles; Phillip Teller and F. T. Letchfield, manager of the industrial department of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

A 3-day statewide conference on aviation will be called by the California Development association in a few months if the league is able to achieve its object. At an executive meeting, a committee was appointed to take the matter up with the development association.

WAR DEPARTMENT AID TO PEACE, SAYS CHIEF

St. Louis.—Peace time importance of the War Department and United States Army was stressed in an address here by Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis, who told one of his most important duties was to bring the American people into a more intimate contact with their army. The address was at a homecoming dinner in his honor.

"I have often thought there is something of terror about the designation of the great Government department of which I am the civilian head, as a department of war," Davis said. "Such a name implies that all of its activities have to do with making war or with preparing to make war. That is not a fact. It is not the business of the War Department to prepare for war but to prepare against war."

Backs Daves in Senate Reforms
Cincinnati, Ohio.—Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas told the Advertisers' Club here that he is in absolute sympathy with the movement started by Vice-President Daves for reform of the Senate to prohibit unlimited debate. "There is no doubt there is too much hot air and wind jamming in the Senate, and I am heartily in favor of the program to shut it off," he said.

Cuba Women to Have Equal Chance
Havana.—The women of Cuba are to have equal opportunity with men to obtain employment, moreover, the new female employment law, passed by Congress in 1923 and just signed by President Machado, makes their employment mandatory in many lines of business.

IMPEACHMENT OF 'MA' CONSIDERED

DALLAS REPRESENTATIVE TO FILE PETITION

BATTLE IS BASED UPON ALLEGED ROAD GRAFTS

Representative T. K. Irwin Will Petition for Special Session of the Legislature to Consider Impeachment Proceedings.

Dallas, Texas.—Another attack on the administration of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson was seen in the announcement by State Representative T. K. Irwin of the First (Dallas) district that he would petition for a special session of the legislature to consider impeachment proceedings in connection with the highway situation.

Representative Irwin said he would mail a petition to all members of the legislature for the special session. While the call does not specifically mention the name of Governor "Ma" Ferguson, Irwin and other Dallas county members intimated that it is directed at her and the present highway commissioners.

Irwin said he believed that impeachment proceedings should be brought "against any state officer who has aided or abetted in any way this gigantic fraud on the people of the state."

The state law reads that any member of the legislature may issue a call for a special session for impeachment purposes, and, provided fifty members of the house of representatives sign the petition, the speaker of the house must call the special session.

Lee Satterwhite, speaker of the house, several weeks ago said he would call a session for the purpose of investigating highway matters. Whether or not he will lend his support to this movement is not known.

A majority of the state senators and representatives will be in Austin for the tax session, and it is considered likely that the true sentiment on the impeachment session will be learned then.

Barry Miller, lieutenant-governor, refused to discuss the situation.

Various members of the legislature have attacked the highway commissioners, but Representative Irwin's call for a special session is the direct outcome of a judgment for $600,000 rendered in the district court at Austin against the American Road company in the suit brought by Attorney General Dan Moody to cancel the company's road contracts in this state.

GRAZING LAND LEASES URGED BY U. S. SOLO

Washington.—President Coolidge was urged by Senator Cameron of Arizona to recommend in his message to congress passage of a bill which would permit cattlemen in western states to lease public lands for grazing purposes for a period of at least ten years. Under existing conditions, the president was told, cattle raisers are permitted to use the public domain from year to year, but have no assurance that they will be awarded the same area in succeeding years, and, therefore, have not been able to fence the lands and to put down water wells.

The historic rivalry between sheep raisers and cattlemen of the west, said Cameron, has passed to such an extent that sheepmen have joined with the cattlemen in an effort to have grazing legislation enacted.

The senate public lands committee, of which Cameron is a member, plans to present a bill at the next session providing for a 10-year lease, the senator said. Regulations covering grazing permits are being drawn by the forestry service, he said, pointing out that stockmen would prefer that the fee system be based on the area of grazing land used instead of basing charges on the number of cattle grazed, which is favored by the forestry service.

Favor Signing Security Pact
Berlin.—The Reichsrath, composed of delegates representing the governments of the Federal states, gave its approval to the first and second readings of the bill providing for Germany's signature to the Locarno pacts and entrance into the League of Nations. The vote was 4 to 4 in favor of approval of the bill.

Pope Honors Belgian Queen
Rome.—Pope Pius has bestowed the golden rose upon the queen of the Belgians, in honor of her twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The golden rose, which is the greatest gift the pope can bestow upon a Catholic queen, is a marvel of the goldsmith's art, it has a hundred beautifully engraved petals.

AINSLEY SELLS BAKERY BUSINESS

Hal C. Tuttle, of San Francisco, has purchased the equipment, business and good will of the Peter Pan Bakery and confectionary of Gordon Ainsley, Mr. Tuttle has had considerable experience in one line of the bakery business having been with Fleishman Yeast Co., at San Francisco, for seven years. In his contact with bakers over the state he has become thoroughly acquainted with the wants of the buying public in the baked goods line.

He will continue to supply the quality products of his predecessor and hopes to make the service everything the work signifies in his line. He is more than pleased with our town and its citizens and declares he has "come to stay." Wednesday he and his good wife were busy moving into their new home, the Noble house, on Page street. We bespeak for him a hearty welcome and a good measure of business.

MORELAND CLUB ENTERTAINED

The members of the Moreland Club were entertained at the home of Mrs. J. Boden, of Payne avenue, Wednesday November 18.

Mrs. McBride gave an interesting paper on "Government Operated Industries of New Zealand." A pleasant social hour followed during which Mrs. Boden, assisted by her daughters, served dainty refreshments. Guests of the club were Mrs. A. G. Brown, Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Osteen.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. S. E. Johnson, of Johnson avenue and Mrs. Gary L. Holtum will give a talk on "Sights of Interest in New Zealand."

A MOST ENJOYABLE GIFT

Our enterprising merchants are all selling prunes this season. Oh, yes, the hardware man, stationer or candy man, all selling prunes. And they are selling a lot too. This being done about the county to boost Santa Clara county's gold mining stock. Thousands of pounds are being shipped to eastern friends as gift boxes. And the gift is one to be appreciated by every recipient. Have you sent your box yet? Do it today.

CAMPBELL LOSES PROMINENT PIONEER

Funeral services for the late Samuel George Rodeck were held from the Campbell Methodist church Monday afternoon.

The services, attended by a host of friends were in charge of Rev. F. C. Farr, pastor of the church, assisted by the Rev. John Wilson and Rev. W. H. Lloyd, former pastors here and Rev. W. E. Eckles of the Congregational church. Mrs. J. Blaine and Miss Florence Kennedy sang two sweet duets, "Jesus Savior, Pilot Me", and "How Blest the Righteous When He Dies."

Interment was in the family lot at Santa Clara. Messrs. C. E. Hanger, Ralston Alison, Geo. Whitney, J. F. Duncan, J. C. Ainsley and J. L. Hagelin, acting as pallbearers.

In the passing of Mr. Rodeck the news of which was a decided shock to the entire country side, this community has lost one of its pioneers and staunchest supporters. He was one of Campbell's most faithful workers for the common welfare having been for several years president and secretary of the Improvement Club. He was ever active and untiring in the performance of his duties on committees of various organizations. His advice, always sound and sensible, was sought on many lines and his friendship was most dependable. As an attest of his sound judgment he has been on the finance of the local bank for many years and thru the changes of reorganization.

He was manager of Campbell Fruit Growers Union, the first co-operative fruit organization in California.

Altho meaning much to his town and townspeople, his church will miss him most. For many years he has been an active officer in both the church and Sunday school and a most faithful attendant at both. He was the pastor's right-hand man and advisor on many matters.

Mr. Rodeck was born at Petaluma, November, 1856, being 69 years and twenty days old at the time of his death. At the age of twenty he entered the dairy business at San Luis Obispo. He came to Campbell to engage in the fruit industry about 42 years ago. Altho becoming a charter member of the Bank of Campbell, he continued his fruit growing until recently when he disposed of his big ranch near Morgan Hill.

In 1886 he was united in marriage with Miss Lena Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Campbell, founders of our town. Three children were born to them, Cora Antrim, of Fresno, Mary Rodeck, of Campbell, and George Benjamin Rodeck of Morgan Hill, all of whom survive their father. He is also survived by his loving wife, two sisters and a brother.

The bereaved ones are extended the heartfelt sympathy of their many friends.

SURPRISED AT 82

Mrs. J. F. Duncan was hostess to a group of ladies on Friday afternoon as a surprise in honor of her mother's birthday. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent in visiting, while fingers were busy with needlework.

Miss Fannie Ingalls gave an interesting talk on Indians wearing a pretty Indian costume. She also recited an original poem which she had written for Mrs. Parker.

A lovely birthday cake bore the figures "82" outlined with lighted candles. This was served with other dainty refreshments.

SPECIAL SERVICES

Special services will be held in Gamo's Tabernacle, commencing November 29. Evangelist W. T. Brewer of Fresno will conduct the services and his daughter will have charge of the song service. All are cordially invited to come and bring a friend. These services will continue for ten nights.

FEDERATION P. T. A. SESSION AT CAMPBELL

Mrs. James J. Dale acting president of the Foothill Federation of P. T. A. presided over the regular monthly meeting at the Campbell Union Grammar School on Friday, November 20, the local organizations acting as hostesses. After the board meeting called at 10:30, lunch was served in the cafeteria under the very able management of Miss Rowena Farman, instructor in Home Economics.

The afternoon session opened with the salute to the flag and singing of the P. T. A. song. Many things of interest to all P. T. A. workers were discussed—special mention being called to the next Sixth District Meeting which convenes in Campbell on February 10, at which time Mrs. Hugh Bradford, state president, will be the speaker.

Mrs. R. L. Grabill, of Sunnyvale District, chairman of Public Safety, told of the state-wide campaign being conducted in the interest of the conservation of lives. Pledge cards will be distributed into all homes, these to be read, signed and returned by all auto drivers and pedestrians.

Other chairmen to report were Community Life and Patriotism.

Vocal Solos by Miss Ruth Matteson and Margaret Pardee were greatly enjoyed. These sweet singers, products of our own local schools, graciously give of their talents for the pleasure of others and are much in demand. The Federation extends a vote of thanks for their courtesy.

Following this Miss Louise Wood, of the faculty of the Teachers' College, gave a most interesting and instructive talk on the Pre-school Age of Child Welfare. The speaker stated the great need of furthering the interest in health examination for all pre-school age children before they enter school, urging better trained parents in order that they may understand the development and habit-training of all children.

A discussion of sources of good reading on health matters and scientific information in regard to the development and care of children led Miss Wood to speak of the book, "The Child: His Nature and His Needs" by O'Shea, a volume adopted by the state congress of P. T. A. at Fresno as a text book of parent training. This book is used for reference at the Teachers' College. The speaker ended her discourse with an offer to assist anyone in securing materials which will stimulate our parenthood to give serious thought to child and parent welfare and particularly the administration and organization of the pre-school work.

The December meeting of the Federation has been changed to January 4 and will meet in Saratoga.

PUNDITAS CELEBRATE

Once again the Pundita's met, on November 18, for their annual "Funfest." This time the program was in the form of an old-time country school and slates, "pig tails" and short pants were very much in evidence. J. J. Pardee was the very efficient school master, ably assisted by B. O. Curry, D. H. Cramer and James Turner as school trustees. Lessons in geography, mental arithmetic and a spelling match were ably recited by the youngsters, after which a program of songs and recitations were presented. These caused much mirth as the participants acted true to their characters. The members who were not dressed for the part were obliged to be school visitors.

After lessons and program were finished, lunch was served in tin dinner pails. The lunch consisted of sandwiches, doughnuts, pumpkin pie, coffee and apples.

A very enjoyable time was voted by all present.

Money in Wood "Farming"

There are 168,000,000 acres of wood lots in the United States and more than 4,000,000 farmers who own wood lots. This is a big factor in our economic and agricultural activities. The value of wood per ton ranks equally with hay and is exceeded in value as a product only by corn, wheat and oats. The farm wood lot under practically no scientific management yields approximately $200,000,000 annually. This income would be larger and the net profit to the farmer increased if forestry methods were applied to wood lots and the crop idea given a fair chance.—Exchange.

Possibility that the Tulare County Farm Bureau federation may take up the question of a fig institute next season, by reason of the growing demand that something be done along this line for the benefit of the many who are engaged in that occupation, is being given serious consideration by the officials of the Visalia organization.

An invention expected to revolutionize phases of the peach canning industry was announced at Marysville, Yuba county, by William Reynolds, after receipt of notice that he had been granted patent papers. The new device is a combination pitter and cutter, calculated to increase the efficiency of workmen 100 per cent.

Thanksgiving

Nearly three centuries ago, in testimony of their solemn gratitude for the blessings of liberty and prosperity, the Pilgrims celebrated their first Thanksgiving in America. In defense of their rights as free men, and in revolt against monarchical rule and religious restrictions, they crossed from Europe to a savage land, denounced as rebels and outlaws, and after crushing hardships attained a comparative measure of independence and safety.

Thanksgiving time is here again, and with it a new age and a new world are before us. The opportunity of all history is knocking at the door of our generation.

Thanksgiving is the only festival in the calendar of this or any other nation, which commemorates not an event but an emotion. It is the most ideal, the most highly sublimed—as the chemists say—of all days of remembrance. And it is as sane as it is spiritual. For its gospel is one of good health by good eating, and as we give thanks for the intangible wealth of the spirit, we eat.

Again the President calls upon the nation to offer thanksgiving and praise. This act of the Chief Magistrate is a confession before the world that we, the people of the United States, believe in God, and that He is the source of all our good.

We are thankful for our form of government. No autocrat struts before our eyes; we are not afflicted with the disease of aristocracy. It is not governed by a crowned head and a parcel of junkers. Its great principle is self-government, a principle that admits the people to participate in its councils, and gives them to feel that they are responsible for the conduct of its affairs.

We are thankful for the patriotism of our people, for the unity there is among them to achieve the grand end of the war, that they might make democracy dominant in the earth by bringing its blessings to those to whom it seemed afar off.

We are thankful for our national prosperity never greater than it is today. If we were to cross the seas and recount to the inhabitants of other lands all the temporal blessings with which we are surrounded, those foreign inhabitants would not believe the Utopian stories we would tell them.

We are thankful for gifts which are multiplied like the dewdrops, and, gliding into life just as silently, are easily undiscerned by careless eyes like ours.

"Oh, those don't count!"

The disgusted comment was made by a boy in our local grammar school, whose teacher had been suggesting to him things for which he could be thankful on Thanksgiving Day. She mentioned his home, his friends, his Sunday school, the day school, good health, and the ability to take part in sports.

But, he declared that these things didn't count "because they are just the common things that everybody has."

We may smile, but many of you who read these lines have more or less of his feeling. How often does it occur to us to be thankful for the things that are so ordinary that we look on them as matters of course, yet without which life would be barren.

Thanksgiving in this year of Grace 1925 should not be simply an occasion to the flesh. It should not have expression simply in games and amusements and feasting. It should bring the citizenship of a great nation into more tune with the Infinite that we may recognize all of His benefits and seek guidance in the new tasks and responsibilities ahead.

DON'T COMMERCIALIZE CALAMITY

We commend Mrs. Margaret Rose Lansdowne, widow of the commander of the ill-fated Shenandoah, for refusing to appear on the stage. May her decision be a worth-while deterrent to the all-too-increasing tendency to commercialize disasters. If we are rightly informed the Fox News Reel concern refused to show pictures of the Santa Barbara earthquake ruins, Mr. Fox stating that his company was willing, if necessary, to stand alone in its refusal to aid revenue to the embarrassment of the victims and to the detriment of the community by directing exaggerated suggestions to the public mind.

Bureau Tags Mackerel

The United States bureau of fisheries has tagged 10,000 mackerel with celluloid bands as a means of learning their breeding and feeding range, course of migration and life history. The tags are attached to the base of the tail and bear a number and the stamp U. S. B. F. A record is kept of every fish.

Spain and Artificial Silk

Spain has one rayon factory and a second will be established to use wheat and other straw pulp in making artificial silk.

Construction is expected to start within a short time on the new $75,000 Bank of Italy building in Oroville, Butte county.

Governor Friend W. Richardson appointed A. S. Walton of San Francisco as a member of the state board of pilot commissioners for San Francisco bay. Walton, a graduate of the Annapolis naval academy and for seventeen years a member of the navy, succeeds Captain Andrew Thompson, who resigned.

Because the old name conveyed the impression of a purely political organization, the Hayward, Alameda county, Civic League of Women Voters decided to drop the final phrase. Hereafter it will be the Hayward Civic League.

Thanksgiving has an Added Significance for Savers

The good old custom of offering prayers on Thanksgiving Day for the blessings bestowed during the year, takes on a special import to those who have followed the paths of thrift.

If circumstances prevented you from saving as much as you would have liked, redouble your efforts and make next Thanksgiving a day to be truly thankful for.

Mrs. M. E. Mumma, of Virginia avenue, has the sympathy of friends in the loss of her father, who passed away in San Jose Saturday. Mr. Denhart had many acquaintances here thru his active participation for many years in the county Minnesota Association. The time set for the funeral services being the same as that for Mr. Rodeck prevented them attending.

At the teachers' institute this week at San Jose, Campbell school held some very fine exhibits of all lines of work by pupils. A health exhibit under the direction of county school nurses was very good. It showed an ideal health room in the home-making building. The furniture was loaned by San Jose firms. The dental hygienist, Miss Mulroy, held her exhibit in the same room.

OBJECT TO STATEMENT

In an attempt to influence the vote on the question of annexation to San Jose of suburban districts one of the dailies stated that Campbell fire equipment was housed in a private garage and intimated that our apparatus was inferior. This paper pays no taxes in Campbell, has no grounds for such statements, a portion of which are false. The fire house is owned by the district and a well equipped fire fighting outfit is kept in good condition. Our men are volunteers, 'tis true, but it has often been remarked "volunteers make better fighters than paid hirelings. Such statements have a decided influence against the growth of a community thus maligned. When any paper stoops to such small methods to gain a point it loses in its influence.

Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Hurlburt were guests at the J. D. Blaine home yesterday.

News of Interest to All

War on all-night country dances where flappers of school age and their male counterparts are drawn both from rural and city homes, has been started in Northern California and the present battle area is Glenn county.

Figures just made public by the Alturas, Modoc county, forest service officials show there was a total of 124 fires in the Modoc national forest during the season of 1925, a number slightly in excess of the 1924 season.

The agricultural department of the Oakdale high school, at Oakdale, Stanislaus county, will hold its second annual poultry show in the athletic building December 9, 10 and 11. Many fine cups are offered as prizes.

The Two Rock Presbyterian church, built twenty-nine years ago in the Two Rock valley, Sonoma county, is to be completely remodeled. While the repairs are in progress the church services will be conducted in the manse.

California grape growers, dried fruit producers and manufacturers of canned milks joined recently in opposition before the Interstate Commerce commission to the 5 per cent freight rate increase sought by western railroads.

Construction work at Exchequer dam and Pleasant valley in Merced county, centers of work on the Merced irrigation district's present projects, have necessitated an addition of a heavy switching locomotive and fifteen flat cars to equipment.

The monthly meeting of unit two of the California State Organization of Public Health Nurses, including Kern, Kings, Tulare, Fresno and Madera counties, was held in Hanford, recently, when twenty-five public health nurses attended.

Three years ago the Kern county farm bureau was just about at the bottom of the list of state farm bureaus. Today it is fourth from the top in the state of California. In the actual number of farmers Kern county ranks eighteenth in California.

A. G. McGlade, a rancher residing on Live Oak road, five miles west of Red Bluff, Tehama county, struck artesian water in a well he was boring on the place. The well was down 285 feet. The water now is flowing two feet above ground in an 8-inch casing.

The Hockenbury System, Inc., of Harrisburg, Pa., has completed arrangements with the Tracy Chamber of Commerce to erect a modern hotel building in Tracy, San Joaquin county. It will be a 2-story reinforced concrete structure, with sixty rooms with baths.

The total number of farms in Shasta county has increased 25 per cent since 1920, as has also farms operated by owners jumped up 25 per cent. Farm land and buildings show increased valuation in five years of 25 per cent, while buildings alone are worth 50 per cent more.

The Modesto Gas company, at Modesto, Stanislaus county, was ordered by the state railroad commission, sitting at San Francisco, to reduce its gas rate 6 cents a thousand cubic feet. The order as predicated upon a decrease in the price of oil used in the manufacture of the gas.

The Klink Citrus association, which operates at Ivanhoe, Tulare county, seven miles northeast of Visalia, has selected Norman Hardin as president for the new year and made plans for installation of new equipment which will make this plant one of the best in the San Joaquin valley. An electric orange counter is to be installed in time for the present orange season, one of three machines of its kind in the San Joaquin valley.

Lover Had His Choice, the Lady or the Bear

Bears, says Sir Hiram S. Maxim in "My Life," do not make safe pets. If you step on a dog's foot, the dog has brains enough to know that it is an accident and actually expects you to pet and pity him for your blunder, which no doubt you will do. But if you step on a bear's foot, the bear will not stop to reason. He will retaliate by taking about a pound of steak out of the calf of your leg.

My uncle, Hiram Stevens, after whom I was named, captured a small cub and brought it up as a pet. It would eat almost anything and about as much of it as a pig, so it soon attained considerable size and had very peculiar ways of showing its affection. At that time my uncle was paying his respects to the young lady who afterward became his wife, and she objected very strongly to the bear. The next Sunday night, therefore, my uncle locked the bear securely in the woodshed, but he had not been very long with his lady love when the front door was burst in and the bear rushed in and landed in his lap. That brought matters to a crisis; the young lady delivered her ultimatum—he must either break off the engagement or kill the bear—and so the interesting pet was sacrificed on the altar of Cupid the next day.

Not So Crazy, After All

In Noerdlingen in Wurttemberg the burgomaster was requested to conduct an insane man to the asylum. Knowing the company of the insane to be trying, the burgomaster fortified himself with a few foaming quarts before entering the train with his charge. The day was hot and further refreshments were necessary. Under their influence the burgomaster fell asleep. When he and his charge finally reached the asylum, the insane man, calmly announcing himself as the burgomaster, produced the papers which he had procured while the burgomaster slept, and left the asylum, leaving the burgomaster inside. The burgomaster protested, explained, and stormed, but all to no purpose. Only after several days was he recognized and freed. The insane man is still at large.

Lost Some Pleasure, but Scheme Worked

So far so good. I have kept my resolution. I have joined no clubs. I have not become an adventurer, a player, a coffee drinker, an explorer, a detective, a yachtsman or an inferior decorator. I take my lunch in any chophouse or saloon that happens, according to "H. D." in the Kansas City Star.

Of course, there are penalties. I have no longer "a man's retreat," which is neither office nor home, where I can receive select communications. I am not able to say, "So long, old man, see you later at the club," nor can I play squash on my scheduled afternoon in the far future. There are no bulletin boards for me to scan. And I have to buy my own magazines.

Yes, there are many temptations, I will admit. But each night I pray that I will not give in. For I know my own weakness. . . . I know how people regard me. . . . I know that, if I join any club, no matter what, I am sure to be elected secretary.

FOUGHT 'EM OUT

"Great stuff these cross-word puzzles! Do you and your wife spend your evenings working 'em out?" "No—we spend our evenings fighting 'em out."

Bonfire of Adders

Years ago certain districts of England were so infested with adders that the low-lying parts were uninhabitable in the summer. The creatures would attack people on the slightest provocation. Alluvial miners on the tin-streams were often set upon.

While cutting down gorse, a laborer found that an adder had crept into his bowl of milk, which he had placed in the shade of a bush. The man promptly put a piece of turf over the bowl and imprisoned the creature. Its loud hissing brought a horde of adders to its assistance and the man and his companions had to flee for their lives.

A heap of reptiles quickly formed over the bowl. The workmen crept back and surrounded them with a circle of blazing bushes, in which the creatures were burned to death.

Bride's Pride

John Hertz, head of the Yellow Cab Manufacturing company, which General Motors bought in, said the other day in New York:

"General Motors has paid me a very high compliment. I feel as proud as the young bride.

"My husband's devotion is unique," the young bride said to a caller.

"How do you mean unique?" asked the caller. "Does he eat your cooking?"

"Not only that," said the young bride, and her voice, as she spoke, trembled with pride and emotion. "Not only that, but he refuses to let me eat it."—Detroit Free Press.

Swiss to Raise Foxes

As a result of the return to Switzerland of a Swiss who had noted the success of some of the fox-breeding farms in America a company has been organized to start a silver fox farm in Klosters, near Praetigau, says a report in the Innsbrucker Nachrichten. Fifty pairs of silver foxes are to be imported from America in November and the farm is to be managed by the returned emigrant.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

New African Railroad

Tanganyika, the new name for the territory formerly known as German East Africa, is to have double the railroad facilities that now exist. The east African commission is preparing to run lateral lines connecting with the main line which goes across that country at this time. The mileage today is about 1,000 miles and at least 700 miles will be added.

That the goal of 2,000 members sought by Red Cross officials in Merced county, would be reached without trouble, was the prediction recently by P. F. Harding, chairman of the special Lions' club committee leading the annual roll call. He said that club members soliciting for membership have met with unqualified success, proving his assertion by saying that eleven of the twenty-seven members working on the drive have completed their rolls with 100 per cent returns.

Operations were begun recently by the Boswell oil mill, a manufacturing plant for cottonseed oil, just finished at Corcoran, Kings county. The plant has a capacity of from 800 to 1,000 gallons of oil daily. The mill is working two shifts, and grinds twenty-four hours a day, employing fourteen men. It requires thirty tons of cotton seed daily to keep the mill running. An auxiliary building for storing seed has been erected.

Announcement is made at Sonora that the $17,500 damage suit filed against the city and county of San Francisco by Charles, William, Fred, George, Henry and Mina Schmidt of Tuolumne county, has been settled out of court. The amount is not stated. The Schmidts alleged a shaft and tunnel driven in Hetch Hetchy work had drained all the springs on their property, leaving it dry and worthless.

A $3,000,000 hydro-electric project on the North Fork of the American river was revealed a short time ago with application of Victor T. Mathews of Cisco, Placer county, for a state permit to divert 200 cubic feet of water per second and 200,000 acre feet a year from the stream for power development. The proposal entails development of 18,182 theoretical horsepower of electrical energy.

Plans are under way for the organization at Woodland, Yolo county, of a branch society of the American Association of University Women. Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt of Mills college, on a recent visit, suggested such an organization to become a unit of the Town and Country club. It is claimed there are one hundred or more university women in the Woodland district alone.

The Alameda Sugar company will close its million-dollar beet sugar factory at Tracy, San Joaquin county, in a short time after a successful season. By that time it will have put out 190,000 bags of sugar and 400,000 bags of beet pulp, the latter for stock feed. The season payroll will reach $95,000. Next year the company expects to operate on beets raised here and in the delta region.

Miss Julia Spenker, Modesto, who caused a furore over last year's milk maid championship, was pronounced winner of the 1925 milking contest, held in Oakland in connection with the Pacific Slope Dairy show. Miss Spenker's successful rival last year, Miss Mae McQuoid, Princeton, was disqualified from the 1925 contest because of having been married since the previous show.

The establishment of a home for anemic and convalescent children stands as next year's objective of the California Scouts, in annual convention at Stockton, San Joaquin county. One dollar a member has been assessed for the purpose. A site in the Santa Cruz mountains has been offered. The convention, which closed selected Santa Cruz for next year's meeting.

The preliminary estimate on the total production of apples in California for 1925 was 52 per cent of normal, which represents a total crop of 6,016,000 bushels. The movement of boxed apples will not be as large as expected earlier in the season on account of injury to the crop by worms in the Watsonville district, the most important apple producing section in the state.

A proposal to construct a junior high school at Martinez, Contra Costa county, is being considered by the trustees of the Martinez grammar school district. Professor L. E. Hart of the University of California has been retained to make a systematic and technical survey to determine the needs of such a structure. It is planned to call a bond election.

Trustees of the College Park Methodist church at San Jose, Santa Clara county, were authorized to purchase property as the site of a new church building in resolutions passed at the quarterly conference meeting held at the church. At the same time the trustees were authorized to dispose of the present church property at Emory and Elm streets.

M. D. Lack, secretary of the state board of equalization, announced recently that property tax exemptions totaling $68,656,652 were granted to 117,114 California war veterans for 1925-26. The law allows ex-service men exemption on $1,000 worth of property.

Californians use 2,380,000 gallons of gasoline every day from the pumps of oil company service stations, it was announced in the monthly report of Charles F. Hayden, chief of the state division of weights and measures. This supply, according to Hayden's survey, is delivered to the public from 36,000 gasoline pumps.

Plans are being prepared for a one-story reinforced concrete gymnasium building for the Anahy Union High school district. It will be erected adjacent to the Anahy High school, at Sebastopol, Sonoma county, and will cost about $35,000.

NATIONAL HEALTH AIM OF RED CROSS PROGRAM

Nurses Guard Community Health; Home Hygiene and Nutrition Featured.

The increasing appreciation by the American people of the value of a national health structure is reflected in the comprehensive machinery built up by the American Red Cross and kept in constant operation in the past year, in the interest of national health.

Instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick, in nutrition; inspection of school children, the maintenance of an effective nursing service, all formed a part of the Red Cross organization assisting in keeping America well.

Altogether 51,121 students were instructed in home hygiene and care of the sick, including $1,430 school students, of whom 20,381 received certificates. This work reached the Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and Girl Reserves; also telephone companies, public and private schools, community and industrial groups. An unusual fact of this service was its adaptation to the needs of the blind, through transcription of the text book in Braille print.

The year's work also demonstrated a growing understanding and appreciation on the part of Red Cross field representatives, chapters, co-operating agencies and others, of the place of nutrition in community programs, looking to community health.

There were 2,800 dietitians enrolled during the year; regular nutrition instruction reached 138,065 children; 20,359 adults attended nutrition meetings, while 1,885 schools were aided in furnishing lunches.

Co-operative relationships were established with various Government and educational agencies in making this branch of the Red Cross health work more effective.

Another of the health-promoting activities of the Red Cross lies in its public health nursing service. There are nearly 1,000 such nurses serving in every part of the country.

As an invaluable reservoir in time of a great national emergency, there is enrolled under the Red Cross banner a reserve of 42,002 nurses. In a number of disasters during the past year in which the Red Cross has aided, and where the services of the nurses were required, they have been among the first to mobilize.

At Lorain, O., last year 34 enrolled Red Cross nurses were engaged in relief work, while 134 were employed in the mid-west tornado disaster relief operation of this year. The work of Mrs. Dorothy Davis Sleichter, a Red Cross public health nurse stationed at Fairbanks, Alaska, in checking a flu epidemic at Fort Yukon, in the Arctic, has won praise from all who knew of it.

It is to assist in maintaining such valuable services to the community that the American Red Cross invites members during its ninth annual roll call, November 11 to 26, the only such appeal which the Red Cross makes in the year.

No appeal is so international as that to the humanity of every people. The sum of $1.50 from a Japanese boy in Tokio to the Santa Barbara relief fund bespeaks a world of friendship, engendered by the American Red Cross.

When the mariners on the high seas enroll 100 per cent in the American Red Cross, should you lag behind?

Join the American Red Cross whose work is your expression of your human impulses.

The work of exterior repairs on the courthouse in Visalia, Tulare county, has ended after three months. Attention was given practically everything needing exterior repair with special attention to the roof. Unsafe fresco work on the outside of the building was removed before some of it fell upon the heads of the people below, four replicas of the statue of Liberty also being removed as dangerous. The main status over the dome was given a more substantial cement paint coating and allowed to remain.

Efficient work is being done by the weed gang in eradication of puncture vine in the Del Rio colony, Merced county, as well as destroying other noxious weed seeds. Follow-up men are at work with poison for the squirrel. Unsold allotments in the colony are being inspected for puncture vine and burned and all roots inspected and weeded where no noxious weeds are found. Adjoining fields are also inspected and ordered burned where sand burrs and thistle are found.

Standardization of accredited hatchery projects and egg-laying contests were the topics discussed at the meeting of the poultry department of the Sonoma County Farm bureau in Petaluma. Dr. W. A. Lippincott of the state university at Berkeley gave a brief outline of what took place at the national conference at Manhattan, Kansas, recently, for the purpose of formulating plans to standardize accredited hatchery projects and egg-laying contests throughout the United States.
